The Blue Book

by Timothée de Fombelle & Émilie Angebault

For 5/7 years

Timothée de Fombelle's new picture book!

Every night, a mother reads her little boy his favourite story. It's a fascinating tale that comforts him before he falls asleep. But, one day, the story changes...

This is a new treat from Timothée de Fombelle, a story that parents will love to read to their five-year-olds. Yet again, we fall under the writer's spell with a story that is both surprising and moving. And, when the story reaches its end, we have only wish - to read it over again!

Timothée de Fombelle developed a passion for writing and for theatre very early on. His first novel, Tobie Lolness, published in 2006, became an international bestseller, winning a score of French and international awards. Since then, he has written numerous award-winning novels and picture books that have considerable acclaim.

Émilie Angebault has had books and coloured pencils around her ever since she can remember. After studying decorative arts for five years in Strasbourg, she began illustrating for several publishers, including Albin Michel, Lito, le Buvreur d'Encre and Hachette.

STRONG POINTS

- Timothée de Fombelle is a leading author of children's books, with:
  - the Tobie Lolness series (445,000 copies sold since 2006 - all formats);
  - Georgia tous mes rêves chantent (Georgia All My Dreams Sing) (17,520 copies sold since 2016, in France only);
  - Capitaine Rosalie (15,900 copies sold since 2018, in France only);
- Émilie Angebault, a rising star among French illustrators, takes us into a gentle, magical world of her own creation;
- an essential theme to start off the series - the pleasure of reading and the power of the imagination.

The Little Paper Man

by Agnès de Lestrade & Maurèn Poignonec

The author and illustrator

Agnès de Lestrade is a journalist and an important author of children's books who holds workshops in music and the visual arts. She has had about a hundred picture stories and novels published, with translations sold in over a dozen countries. She is extremely popular with young readers and has won the "Incorruptibles" award on many occasions.

Maurèn Poignonec has illustrated about 40 children's books, including the series "La famille Cerise" (The Cherry Family) for Didier Jeunesse, and Le Livre de mes émotions (The Book of My Feelings) for Gründ.

For 3/5 years

Once upon a time there was a little man made of paper who wanted to explore the world...

Arsène dreams of exploring the world. So, one day, he escapes from the book he lives in and meets a little girl called Hortense. She recognizes the little paper man, because she reads about him every evening. She takes him under her wing and takes everywhere with her. Arsène is over the moon! But, very soon, he thinks about his parents and the wonderful hugs he gets from them. It's time to go home and show them that he has grown up...
